Transition Information for Parents, Physicians, and Providers of Youth and Young Adults with Special Health Care Needs

"Transition is a process, not an event."
--from the National Center for Youth with Disabilities

As a parent or medical provider for a youth or young adult with special health care needs, you may be caught up in day-to-day details.

This brochure is a reminder that your teen is growing up and it is time to start thinking about key decisions you will need to help them make in the next several years.

We hope the information and related resources provided help you and your young adult plan for the future.

Our future exists in the hopes of our children . . .

Encouraging Independence

- Evaluate your teen's knowledge of his/her health care needs. Fill in any gaps in understanding.
- Continue to teach self-help skills for independence and additional skills related to specific health care needs.
- Teach your teen to talk with medical providers about age-appropriate information such as physical and emotional development and sexuality.
- Help your young adult write an up-to-date record of their medical history with his/her medical provider. Include conditions, operations, medications and treatments (with dates, doctors and recommendations).
- Teach your teen to make medical appointments and be responsible for refilling prescriptions and ordering supplies.
- For transfer of medical care, research adult health care providers.
- Begin exploring health care financing and coverage options for your young adult.
- If your young adult has not received SSI due to parental income or assets, contact SSI prior to your young adult turning 18 to see if he/she will become eligible.
- If appropriate, apply for guardianship so that it is in place before your young adult turns 18.
- If your teen has a 504 Plan or Individualized Education Plan (IEP) at school, attend meetings with your teen. Encourage your teen to actively participate. Keep a copy of the plan that is developed to assure that it is followed.
- Help your teen explore volunteer and work activities. Encourage him/her to think about possible career interests and investigate resources or support needed for meaningful employment or education.
- Support your teen in identifying and attending support groups and participating in recreation, social and leisure activities.

- At age 18, males must register for the Selective Service.
